Liontown partners with Metalshub to launch its first spodumene concentrate auction

Liontown Resources Limited (ASX : LTR) (the Company or Liontown) is pleased to announce it has joined Metalshub to streamline and digitalise spot sales of Kathleen Valley spodumene concentrate to its global customers.

The partnership marks a major milestone in the commercialisation of Liontown's world-class Kathleen Valley Lithium Operation, enabling transparent pricing, efficient processes and competitive access to global buyers.

Liontown is committed to leveraging innovation and technology to deliver long-term value for customers, shareholders, and partners in the global clean energy supply chain. Through Metalshub, Liontown will host a series of bidding events for Kathleen Valley spodumene concentrate into calendar year 2026 and beyond, allowing buyers to submit bids and purchase product directly via the platform.

The Company's first auction for 10,000 tonnes of spodumene concentrate will be held on 19 November 2025, and interested parties are invited to register now at metals-hub.com.

Kathleen Valley is one of the world's first underground lithium mines and is powered by approximately 80% renewable energy. First production from Kathleen Valley's fourth-generation process plant occurred in July 2024.

Liontown's Chief Executive Officer, Tony Ottaviano, said:

"From the inception of our marketing strategy, Liontown has been clear with its position that a transparent, auditable and liquid price index is crucial to establishing a long-term sustainable lithium industry.

Utilising Metalshub for our first digital spot sales auction will improve price transparency for spodumene, giving more customers an opportunity to bid on Liontown cargoes."

This announcement has been approved for release by the Managing Director, Tony Ottaviano.
